

Pursuing Your Career in the UN

Prepare for your next career move with a self-paced training module, tailor-made for UN staff.

#Management #E-learning #Up to 2 months #Virtual Campus

Introduction

Participants in this module need to complete the self-paced online learning (three to four hours of learning time), followed by a one-on-one coaching/mentoring session with an experienced mentor to discuss takeaway from the module and prepare for the next career move.

Where ONLINE

When 01 Jan - 31 Dec 2021

Fee 750 USD

Duration 2 months from date of receiving login information

Enrollment deadline 31 Dec 2021

Contact

leadershipandmanagement@unssc.org

Language English

Objectives

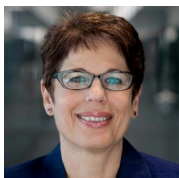

Upon successful completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Analyse a vacancy announcement and assess coherence with your profile and experience;
- Prepare and fine-tune your personal history form or P11 to highlight specific aspects of your work and facilitate understanding of your expertise and experience;
- Plan for a competency-based interview and use the highly effective STAR model to better articulate your experience and expertise.

Course Contents

- UN selection system
- UN competency framework
- CBI principle and practices.
- Before, during and after the interview
- Building rapport and communicating through non-verbal language.

Faculty

Nancy Raphael

Course Methodology

This programme follows learner-centered design principles, and applies adult learning, such as case-based learning, simulation-based learning, reflection and social learning.

The online phase is self-paced where participants can start at any time and complete activities at their own pace within two months.

When participants have completed all the online activities, a one-to-one coaching/mentoring session will be scheduled with an experienced mentor. A final certificate of completion will be issued.

This module forms part of the new UNSSC's Blueline learning platform. Subject to completion of this module, interested participants can sign up and access the Extended E-Certificate on Leadership and Management or other existing e-learning paths in Blueline. Please contact emc@unssc.org for further information.

Target Audience

All UN personnel (Professional and General Service staff) at headquarters and field locations.

Cost of participation

The programme fee for individual participants is $750, which includes online learning and a one-to-one mentoring session.